Administrative/Biographical History:

James Duncan (1810-1866), was born in Perth, the son of Mr Duncan of leading druggists, Duncan and Flockhart (Edinburgh). He qualified MD Edinburgh in 1834, and became a Member of The Royal College of Surgeons of London that same year. On 21st October 1835 he was elected to the Fellowship of The Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh. He served as House-Surgeon in the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh under Robert Liston, for whom he held special regard, and eventually became Senior Surgeon at the Infirmary, serving there for many years. He died of cholera while visiting the continent with his family in August 1866. His son, John Duncan, became a Fellow of the College in August 1864.
